An epic battle between Modesto Fire Fighters and Modesto Police Officers is set for May 6th to benefit the Boys & Girls Club of Stanislaus County. The special event brings together members from each organization for the Stanislaus' Rib Cook-off where each team competes for the title of the tastiest ribs. More than 500 guests will serve as judges to decide who will take home the top prize of a year long worth of official bragging rights.

The fundraiser provides a platform to showcase the Boys & Girls Club of Stanislaus County offering attendees an opportunity to learn more about the non-profit organization. Chief Professional Officer, Lincoln Ellis adds, "this event lets us celebrate the mission of the Boys & Girls Club which is to enable all young people, especially those who need us most, to reach their full potential as productive, caring, responsible citizens."

Jair Juarez, President of Local 1289, adds, "it is our pleasure to participate in this fun competition knowing that the money raised will help the Boys & Girls Club of Stanislaus County to continue the important service it provides to local youth."

The 21+ over event takes place at the home of Dr. Stephen and Ann Endsley located at 1425 Church Street in Modesto, California. Tickets are $50 for an evening of hors d'oeuvres, cocktails and savory ribs. There will also be a special ceremony presented by the Civil Air Patrol.
